

ConCERNed for Humanity

Monday, Sep. 12, 5:30pm
61-1-009 (room C)

Spiritual Dimensions of Scientific Cognition

Alexey Burov

Being a hard human adventure, science requires veneration of certain values. From another perspective, the scientific worldview undermines all the sacraments, thus resulting in a self-negation of reason and internally hostile Duoverse of Macrocosm and Microcosm. Is this self-negation really dictated by rational thinking?

Design: ScientificHumanities